Eagle Project is a New York-based Native American artistic laboratory utilizing theatre, music, dance, spoken word, and film to investigate and understand American identity. We unpack the Native American Experience, both past and present, as the primary means to conduct our exploration.

Eagle Project is an inter-tribal and multicultural performing arts company. Our mission is to develop and stage the works of Native American playwrights and theatre artists and to provide educational outreach on Native American culture to audiences throughout Turtle Island. Eagle Project is New York City's only Lenape-led intertribal and multicultural performing arts company. Eagle Project is a member artist of New York Live Arts, Inc., a non-profit tax-exempt organization.

THIS LIVE READING IS A FUNDRAISING EVENT

Joseph A. Dandurand infuses traditional storytelling into nonlinear surrealist theater with characters that move between past and present, offering perspectives of the same reality from different vantage points – and moments in history.

This exploration of race, history, loss, gross caricature and stereotype, as well as cultural appropriation is told in conversations between two old-fashioned wooden “Indians” sitting on a bench in front of a gift shop as they have their picture taken by camera toting, offensive and shallow, time traveling tourists.
